Oldcastle Enclosure Solutions Employees Volunteer at the Houston Food Bank

HOUSTON, Texas (SEPTEMBER 2017) – In June, Oldcastle Enclosure Solutions employees gathered to volunteer at the Houston Food Bank and do their part in the fight against hunger in the state of Texas. The corporate initiative was spearheaded to aid people with resources aimed at improving their quality of life and creating a hunger-free community.

In addition to making meals for breakfast, lunch and dinner for the coming week, they cleaned out the hot and cold food storage bins, unloaded milk and ice pallets and packed pallets for food distribution to various locations who provide food for families and children. During their time, they helped provide over 14,000 meals!

The organization heavily counts on volunteers to make its mission a reality. “Not only was it rewarding giving back, but we also had the opportunity to learn about the different ways the Houston Food Bank contributes to the community,” noted Sean Dvoran, Plant Manager for Oldcastle Enclosure Solutions Houston. “They do a remarkable job in helping people in need and I was grateful to share this experience with my colleagues.”

Oldcastle Enclosure Solutions plans on continuing to partner with the Houston Food Bank in the coming years.

Every dollar donated to the Houston Food Bank provides the equivalent of three meals for an individual. The organization plans to grow to an annual distribution of 100 million nutritious meals by 2018. In 2016 it was 79 million meals. Because they receive strong support from donors in the community and the food industry, the Food Bank keeps administrative costs low - less than five cents on the dollar and this 5 cents includes the energy it costs to run the building!
