Oldcastle Precast Maryland Employees Volunteer at Maryland Food Bank

EDGEWOOD, MD (JULY 2017) – As the Chesapeake Region and Edgewood employees continue to take part in local community events and volunteer their time, the ongoing need exists to help feed the hungry and the homeless.

On June 2nd, Oldcastle Precast Maryland employees showed their willingness to aid the hungry and support their community by volunteering at the Maryland Food Bank, in Halethorpe, Maryland.

During their time at the food bank, the employees sorted and packaged donated food items which will be delivered to the hundreds of needy people in the area.

“In our community, there live many individuals who are hurting, hungry, homeless and in need of hope. Men, women and children who have faced hard times, managing their best to get by,” expressed Greg Ouimette, Business Development Manager of Edgewood. “Regardless of a person’s situation or circumstance, the Maryland Food Bank distributes food to millions in the area. Not only will they receive a fantastic meal, they receive it with a smile. It was a heartwarming experience for all of us.”

“Like many of our social impact initiatives, the innovation and inspiration comes from our employees who are volunteering in and contributing to their communities,” stated Doug Bruhns, Chesapeake Regional Manager. “Thank you to everyone who volunteered.”
